FORTY-THREE MINERS TAKE FIRE BOSS TEST

Class Somewhat Above Average for Accomplishments

MANY FROM CALIFORNIA

Sixteen Here From Normal Town--Questions This Year Are Very Practical

Forty-three miners composing a class that acording to Mine Inspector F. W. Cunningham of the district examining board, is somewhat above the average in point of intelligence and accomplishments today are taking the written examinaton for fire boss certificates in the twenty-first bituminous district. The examining board is the same as that which conducted the examination for mine foreman on Tuesday and Wednesday, Mine Inspector Cunningham, Harry C. Drum and John Stephenson.

Those who are taking the examination for fire boss and their places of residence are:

California—John J. Anderson, Floyd McCallister, W. J. Smith, M. W. Allison, Eldridge Copenhaver, Elton Drum, William Bagshaw, William E. Smith, G. W. Hugney, Joseph Edwards, Jr., Samuel McFann, Walter Deuar, Earl Edwards, John H. Frazier, J. W. Summers, Arthur Smith, Jacob Breitinger, Robert McMurray.

Allenport—Charles Balmer, Harry Livingston, Ray Ridgway, Ed. Kelly, John Sowden, George Haywood.

Fayette City—W. H. Roley, Alex. Park, Jr., John H. Williams, William H. Roy, Lot R. Harris, Adam Auther.

Coal Centre—Ollie Pettigrew, S. D. Abercrombie.

Arnold City—Ayers G. Moore, Jesse Ashley.

Charleroi—Frank L. May.

Elco—Andrew Soles.

Stockdale—Ernest Marshall, John McCullum.

Belle Vernon—Charles Lohman.

Roscoe—William Wild, William Watson.

Speers—Matthew Hall, James T. Heffran.

"The test for fire boss is practical," said Mine Ispector Cunningham. "Look at these questions. They are for this morning's work," and he showed the qestions, which were as follows:

"On enterng a mine as fire boss, how would you discharge your duties as such, and what information should you obtain before beginning the examination of the mine?

"What are the legal duties of a fire boss?

"Give six essential features of a safety lamp for testing purposes.

"Where are the gases generated in bituminous coal mines generally found?

"Who should be entrusted with a safety lamp, and when and where should you use safety lamps in bituminous coal mines?"

Bentleyville Hunting Cop

Man Who Did Hold Down Job Wasn't Liked--Man Now Working Temporarily

Bentleyville is hunting a cop. At the present time Lloyd Squires is the incumbent but his job is only temporary. Council has been having a merry time electing a policeman. The last man who wore a helmet was proven by council according to the opinion of council was found wanting. He was asked for his resignation Since then Bentleyville has been vainly trying to locate a good man for an ordinarily good job.

FISH ARE PLENTIFUL IN RIVER

Fishermen Making Rich Hauls From Stream These Evenings

OF CATFISH VARIETY

Cat fish are numerous in the Mongahela river now and it is declared fishermen are making rich hauls. Nearly every day or night thee are fishing parties out lining the shores and patroling the stream in skiffs, with their hooks and lines Results have been eminently pleasing. Catfish larger than were ever seen before in the Monongahela it is declared have been caught and the average length is close to a foot.

Some years ago the state stocked the stream with catfish. Apparently it was useless to stock it with any other kind the acid and other ingredients that were dumped into the water killing them off. Catfish it seems can stand most anything and thrive and that accounts for the many to be found this spring.

CARS IN OPERATION DURING THIS SUMMER

Bentleyville People Hear That Westside Electric Street Railways Company Will Start Service by July

It has been announced in Bentleyville the hustling town of the Pigeon Creek valley that street cars will be running through town in July. The West Side Electric company has its line nearly completed in Bentleyville borough. Most of the grading has been completed, track laid and poles set. Both steel bridges are up and it is estimated that the cars will be in operation from Weaver Station to Ellsworth in July. This will be ahead of the time called for in the franchise.

Work is under way on the contract for a part of the Charleroi-Bentleyville line which has been let to the Parson Construction company of Brownsville. The line is to be c ompleted within 90 days. More than 80,000 yards of dirt will have to be moved. The mile of track from Weaver to Jonestown will be graded by the company's own force of workmen. Car service from Ellsworth to Charleroi is indicated at an early date.

DISASTER ENDS ASSAULT CASE

Principals Dead From Result of Mine Explosion at Down River Mine

NO INDICTMENT MADE

With the death of the prosecutor and one of the defendants, also the principal witness in the Cincinnati mine disaster two weeks ago the grand jury Wednesday ignored an assault and battery suit. Thomas Miller, one of the defendants to the suit who for lack of bail had been committed to jail and had thus escaped death in the mine, was released from custody.

John Polosky, defendant; Joe Bartusavich, the prosecuting witness and William Roskosky, the principal witness, all residents of Cincinnati Patch, were killed in the explosion. Bartussavich had alleged that Polasky and Miller attacked him and beat him.

MINE FUND REACHES THE SUM OF $252.58

To the Cincinnati mine relief fund has been added the sum of $5.00 from the Charleroi Real Estate agency. This brings the Charleroi relief fund up to $252.58.

Washington Broker Unable to Carry Out Agreement by Which He Got All

Colin McF. Reed an insurance broker of Washington who had been awarded the $760,000 insurance carried on the court house and jail and certain portions of their contents nd equipment appeared before the county commissioners Wednesday and announced his inability to meet the obligations he had assumed. In the absence of Commissioner A. P. Barnum his colleagues, Commissioners Hill and Berry, took up the matter and on motion it was decided to reject all the policies submitted by Reed and award the insurance in accordance wth the action had in February when the insurance was granted to recognize Washington county agents at the flat rate of $4 per $1000, the policies to be in force as for February 11.

F. P. McCloskey is the only Charleroi agent to be given any of the insurance.

CHILD IS DEAD FROM POISONING

Eats Substance While at Play and Lives But Few Hours

PLAYMATES ARE SICK

A little foreign girl, Angeline Russo aged five yeans, daughter of Nicoli Russo, of Webster, died Tuesday from some sort of poisoning and her two little playmates, a three-year-old sister and another girl aged nine years, are seriously ill at their homes.

The children were playing near their homes and evidently ate or drank something they found there. They all three later became deathly sisk, and a doctor was called. He managed to revive two of the children but the little Russo girl was so bad she died after a short illness. From the conditions of the children and the symptoms the doctor stated that they had likely gotten hold of something poisonous. in either eating or drinking. The physician will make a close examination. The funeral of the Russo girl was held Thursday morning.

Is Reported Cut Today for Second Reading in House

ELECTION BILLS FAIL

McNichol Nomination and Envelop"Vest Pocket"Measures Lose in Senate

Harrisburg, May 8—Today the public utilities bill amended as the House Judiciary General Committee has seen fit will be reported for second reading the bill having passed first reading before being recommitted. A special order will likely be made for the second reading on Monday.

Efforts were made Wednesday to have the utilitics measure amended so that it would have authority over issues of stocks and bonds, but this plan fell by the wayside in the consideration of minor amendments.

The joint resolution introduced by Representative Harry Cochran, of Fayette county to provide a commission composed of senators and representatives to probe the white slave traffic in Pennsylvania passed the House. An appropriation of $10,000 is carried for expenses. The bil lnow goes to the Senate.

A measure to permit counties, cities and boroughs to expend money for the improvement of highways outside the limits of the cities or boroughs for the purpose of connecting an improved street with a state highway goes to the governor, both the Senate and House having passed it.

The Senate declined to pass two election bills prepared by the State Election Commission. One would provide for the envelope system and the other would prevent nominations by nomination papers. Effort will be made to put the legislature through. William Flinn of Pittsburg occupied Senator Charles J. Magee's seat while the fight was in progress.

The McNichol bill, to repeal the provisions of the election laws relating to nominations by nomination papers, was the measure taken up. Its enactment would put an end to the mushroom parties which spring up after some man or set of men have been defeated in a primary. There was no debate on the legislation and it fell for lack of a constitutional majority, the vote being 18 yeas to 20 nays. Before the vote was announced Senators J. P. McNichol and Samuel W. Salus of Philadelphia changed their votes from "yea" to "nay" and later moved for a reconsideration. This motion prevailed and the bill was put on the postponed calendar.

The envelope bill failed to pass through honest objection to its provisions. There was some argument over it. One of the arguments presented was that it would allow a boss to mark his employe's ticket. This remark was considered serious enough enough for Senator McNichol, from Philadelphia to defend his pet measure by demanding any senator to show where workingmen had been coerced in voting.

MEADOW LARK AND SPARROW.

That old friend of rural life, the meadow lark, has been on trial recently, but is fully vindicated. The issue under which he was tried was whether he eats more of the farmer's grain sowed for seed than of insects whose depredations on crops would be far greater, says an exchange.

The trial was conducted rather on the medieval test for witchery. of throwing the accused witch into the river and concluding if she swam that she was a witch and must be executed while if she drowned she was innocent and could rest in peace. Large numbers of meadow larks were killed and their stomachs examined. The examination was so thorough that the defunct meadow larks being vindicated cannot be put together again. But the vindication will avail the suvivors of the meadow lark species.

For the central fact, as stated by the meadow lark inquisition, is: "One an dthree-fourths quarts of insects taken by a Western meadow lark during a year more than pays less than one quart of grain a large of which does not represent a loss."

This, together with the general testimony of the farmers, rehabilitates the meadow lark. It may be added that the same process rendered an exactly opposite verdict on the familiar English sparrow. He would be condemned to extinction by this investigation if he did not emmediately refuse to be extinguished

USE OF MOVING PICTURES.

Moving pictures are being put to new use, which will result in the saving of life and limb. Profesor Munsterburg of Harvard is responsible for what is known as the cinematograph nerve test, which is said will reduce motor car accidents in the United States to a minimum. The professor's theory is that no young man ought to become a chauffeur if his tests indicate that he would not be quick enough to stop his car if a child ran out in the roadway in front of the wheels, says the New Orleans Picayune. In the test for chauffeurs at Harvard the subject is placed in a motor car i na hall equipped for the purpose. He is seated at the wheel of the machine which is packed up so that all the machinery is movable, while the car remains stationary.

The experimeits are conducted in a darkened room. In front of the cars is a white wall on which moving pictures of great size are shown. They are immediately set before the chauffeur student's eyes. The student is then told to act as he would in real life if he saw any one of the things happen that appear on the sceen. Although he knows that the car is not actually running the fact that he is under a test puts the student on edge and makes him believe approximately as he would under ordinary circumstances. A child is first shown in the screen with startling realism, tottering across the road in front of a car. The chauffeur, is of course, expected to handle his car without an instant's loss of time, just as he would have to do if the emergency rose in real life.

This is the most important test to which the students are subjected by the Harvard system.

WILD WEST SHOW TO APPEAR IN CHARLEROI

Elephants With Wild West Show, Here May 14th.

The Young Buffalo Wild West, Vernon C. Seaver's Hippodrome and Col. Cummins' Far East will exhibit in Charleroi, Wednesday, May 14.

These united exhibitions present a most bewildering array of different nationalities from the far and near corners of the earth. From Esquimos of the frozen North to Dahomeymos from Africa's burning sands their skins showing all the color tones of the human race from the pinkest white to the bluest black, and whose ployglot tongues vary from the cowpunchers breezy lingo to the gutteral sounds of the jungle born: whose varied accomplishments run the gamut from Hindoo Mysticism to frontier sports: from wild Cossack horsemanship to the ornamental school of the menage; from Arabian desert riders to our own broncho-busters, and where the splendors of the ancient Orient are vividly contrasted with the primitive features of the West when it was young.

Annie Oakley the world's greatest markswoman, will exhibit her proficiency with the rifle, in the Wild West portion of the program. Inasmuch as she has appeared here before at the Charleroi Gun club's shoots, she will be warmly welcomed.

The street parade will traverse the principal streets, starting at 10:30 a. m.; doors will be opened at 1:00 and 7:00 p. m. for inspection of the Indian, Dahomeyan and Esquimo villages and the Far East Encampment.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Excuse me, sir," said the well dressed stranger, as he stepped inside the door. "Is this Mr. Smart's office?"

"No," replied the man at the desk, rather angrily, "his office is upstairs, on the floor above."

"Much obliged." muttered the stranger, as he proceeded to absent himself. But he was artful, was that stranger, for he left the door wide open.

Then it was that the gentleman at the desk became angrier still.

"Hi!" he called, "come back and close my door! Hi, do-o-o-r!"

The artful one returned. From a bag he produced a mechanical appliance. Upon his face there sat a pleasant smile.

"Allow me, sir to show you my patent double-action door spring. Closes the door without a bang. Absolutely the very latest and best! Warranted for ninety-nine years."

The dodge worked—when the artful man had talked a little longer.

Champ Clark has the happy knack of being able to parry inconvenient interruptions with some smart retort that immediately squashes the opposition. He was speaking at a rather noisy meeting not long ago and after a short time a big chunk of wood was thrown at him. Fortunately, the aim was bad and fell harmlessly on the platform. Mr. Clark picked it up and showed it to the audience.

"Good heavens!" he exclaimed in tones of mock anxiety. "one of our opponents has lost his head!"

Out of Employment

"Out of employment" is the oft-repeated story heard by the butcher and the grocer. But the man with a bank account never needs to tell the world he is out of employment---he has provided for this unfortunate period of life by banking a small percentage of his salary each week during his employment.

Are you doing as much? Better start a savings account with this bank today and thus begin the foundation of a family Gibraltar in time of strikes, famine or other business disturbances. It only requires a dollar to get started.

Historic Pharsalia.

It was on his way to the battlefield of Pharsalia that Caesar uttered the famous saying to the fishermen. He had come down to Brindisi to cross to Dyrrachium and, finding no galley, commanded the owner of a small sailing boat to put him across the Adriatic. On the voyage a violent storm occured, and even the experienced mariners were terrified. But the great captain said: "Have no fear. You carry Caesar and his fortunes."

Real Hard Luck.

A fat Frenchwoman despairingly says, "I am so fat that I pray for a disappointment to make me thin, but so sooner does the disappointment come than the joy at the prospect of getting thin makes me fatter than ever."—London Tit-Bits.

Deftly Turned.

"This isn't like the bread mother makes," said the young married man.

"So you are going to start that, are you?"

"I was merely congratulating you. Mother never was a very good bread maker."—Washington Star.

Steel Globes in Space.

If two solid balls of tempered steel each the size of the earth and hard as the harveyized face of armor plate, were taken in two Jovian hands, placed gently together in space and released what would happen? They would behave exactly as if they were liquid; they would coalesce like two great drops of water, and the highest prominence or mountain on the new globe could not have a height of fifty miles, because anything so high as that would flatten out under its own weight. —Hudson Maxim in Youth's Companion.

Broke the Spell.

Judge E Rockwood Hoar, remarking on President Lincoln's dry humor, said that on one occasion a delegation of negroes had waited on Mr Lincoln and were evidently at a loss to know just what to say. The president waited awhile and then remarked:

"Well, all who are here seem to be present."

This self evident proposition broke the ice and removed the spell from the African jaw

Hostel and Inn.

At one time the words "hostel" and "inn" were not confined to licensed houses, but were applied to lodging houses. The "Inns" of Oxford and Cambridge, very numerous before the introduction of colleges, were regulated by the college authorities. The inns of court were provided for the accommodation of law students. In olden times country houses of the aristocracy, during the absence of the owners, were used as "inns," or guest houses. It was then the rule to hang out as signs the arms of the owners; hence the origin of public house signs - London Globe

Making It Easier.

"George Dinglebat, isn't this the ninth time you have asked me to marry you?"

"Very likely, Laura. And say, why can't we have an understanding in the matter- a division of labor, as it were? I'll do the asking, and you keep tab." —Cleveland Plain Dealer

Natural Ear Trumpets.

It has been ascertained that the spiral horn of a wild sheep, when so placed that the ear is in the axis of the coil, makes the direction from which the ticking of a watch comes more easily discernible. Since the ear of the sheep is surrounded by the horn it is inferred that the latter acts as an ear trumpet, not improving the hearing for distant sounds, but disclosing the direction of a sound. This would be useful in enabling the sheep to ascertain the exact points whence sounds come when there is a mist or fog covering its feeding grounds.—Exchange.

Bruin Was Fishing.

I was walking up the river shore one evening about sunset watching for a deer. Rounding a bend, I saw perched upon a flat rock some few feet from shore a large black bear. I could not tell at first what he was doing. He was stooping down, with one paw in the water, waving it gently to and fro. I watched closely and saw, just beyond his reach, a large male salmon, so nearly dead that he could not swim. The bear was using his paw to create an eddy which would draw the fish within his grasp. Slowly the salmon drifted toward the rock. It was amusing to watch how carefully the bear moved his paw, so as not to frighten his prey. At last the fish came within reach. Bruin reached over, gave it a quick slap, seized it in his jaws and leaped ashore. The whole performance tickled me so that I let him go off, the salmon dangling in his mouth, without even taking a shot at him.—Charles Stuart Moody in Outing.

The Real Thing.

Express Clerk—Value of this package, please? Fair Damsel—Twenty five thousand dollars. Express Clerk—Huh? Fair Damsel—You heard what I said. Those are love letters from old Bagsocoyne, and I'm sending 'em to my lawyer.—Cleveland Leader.

The Drift.

A Correction.—"We are drifting toward a paternal form of government," said the economist. "Pardon me if I correct you," responded the suffragette gently; "to be accurate you should say a maternal form of government."—Case and Comment.

Old Time Punishment.

In "Pike's History of Crimes," volume 1, page 226 is found the following copy of the sentence of an old time traitor "It is the order of the court that for your treason you be drawn and hanged and beheaded and that your heart, bowels and entrails, from whence come your traitorous thoughts, be torn out and burned to ashes and that the ashes be scattered to the four winds and that your body be afterward cut into four quarters."

Sugar.

A West India paper says that in 1752 an "Essay on Sugar" was written in which it is recorded that the Duke of Beaufort, who died in 1702 at the advanced age of eighty years, used to eat a pound of sugar every day, and it was found that he was never troubled with coughs and his teeth were firm so that his housekeeper gave this reason:

That which preserves apples and plums
Will also preserve life and lungs.

He Remembered.

Mrs Jones Do you remember that night in June, Henry, when you first asked me to marry you? Mr Jones If you refer to that first, last, single solitary and only occasion upon which I ever asked you to marry me, I do and you never gave me another chance either

Raleigh's Pipe.

A pipe with a history is in the possession of a collector in London It was once the property of Sir Walter Raleigh and is not unlike the letter "Y" in shape For centuries it has been kept in an inlaid box dated "Anno 1527." It is constructed in four pieces of wood rudely carved with dogs heads and with the faces of Indians In the bowl there is a cap about as large as the bowl itself, and attached to the stem is a string of beads made of the same wood as the pipe In this stem a powerful whistle has been cut, and the suggestion is that Sir Walter used it to summon his servants The Archaeological society exhibited this pipe at Guildhall in the middle of the nineteenth century the association accompanying it bearing these words "The original pipe of the above celebrated historian of the World and who first introduced tobacco and potatoes into England Tradition, corroborated by a parchment in the possession of the family states that this pipe was smoked by Sir Walter Raleigh on the scaffold just before his execution and handed to one of his retainers [illegible] of his

A Capful of Wind.

The origin of the phrase "a capful of wind" can be traced to a Norse king, Eric VI., who died in 907 A. D. He was credited with the useful power of directing the wind to blow where he wished by the simple method of turning his cap to that point of the compass. His powers were much appreciated and trusted and resulted in his being known as "windy cap." There is no evidence as to whether he could regulate the force of the wind as well as the direction. Presumably he could, or his faithful believers would not have been so many. A "bagful of wind" is another common expression and indicates something like a gale. This has been traced down to the classical legend of Aeolus and his captive winds confined in bags.

HOW MRS. BROWN SUFFERED

During Change of Life—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. BROWN, 809 N. Walnut St., Iola, Kan.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

An Ingenious "Fire Box."

A very simple but nevertheless effective method of making fire is used in the Arfak mountains, in Dutch North New Guinea. The natives cut a section of bamboo, usually about nine inches long by two inches in diameter, and into this are put a supply of tinder and a small fragment of anything hard, preferably a piece of china if the natives can get hold of it. The tinder is covered from the wet by a piece of bark, and the "fire box" is then ready for use whenever it is wanted. To get a light the native merely takes the piece of china and a lump of tinder between his thumb and first finger; then, holding the bamboo in his left hand, he strikes its surface sharply with the chin, causing a spark which soon ignites the tinder. Even the white man soon acquires the knack of doing this, and the process is much more effective and infinitely less laborious than the usual method of producing fire by friction.—Wide World Magazine.

Charleroi—Frank L. May.

Elco—Andrew Soles.

Stockdale—Ernest Marshall, John McCullum.

Belle Vernon—Charles Lohman.

Roscoe—William Wild William Watson.

Speers—Matthew Hall, James T. Heffran.

"The test for fire boss is practical," said Mine Ispector Cunningham. "Look at these questions. They are for this morning's work," and he showed the qestions, which were as follows:

"On enterng a mine as fire boss, how would you discharge your duties as such, and what information should you obtain before beginning the examination of the mine?

"What are the legal duties of a fire boss?

"Give six essential features of a safety lamp for testing purposes.

"Where are the gases generated in bituminous coal mines generally found?

"Who should be entrusted with a safety lamp, and when and where should you use safety lamps in bituminous coal mines?"

OF CATFISH VARIETY

Cat fish are numerous in the Mongahela river now and it is declared fishermen are making rich hauls. Nearly every day or night thee are fishing parties out lining the shores and patroling the stream in skiffs, with their hooks and lines Results have been eminently pleasing. Catfish larger than were ever seen before in the Monongahela it is declared have been caught and the average length is close to a foot

Some years ago the state stocked the stream with catfish. Apparently it was useless to stock it with any other kind the acid and other ingredients that were dumped into the water killing them off. Catfish it seems can stand most anything and thrive and that accounts for the many to be found this spring.

CARS IN OPERATION DURING THIS SUMMER

Bentleyville People Hear That Westside Electric Street Railways Company Will Start Service by July

It has been announced in Bentleyville the hustling town of the Pigeon Creek valley that street cars will be running through town in July. The West Side Electric company has its line nearly completed in Bentleyville borough. Most of the grading has been completed, ties and rails are set. Both steel bridges are up and it is estimated that the cars will be in operation from Weaver Station to Ellsworth in July. This will be ahead of the time called for in the franchise.

Work is under way on the contract for a part of the Charleroi-Bentleyville line which has been let to the Parson Construction company of Brownsville. The line is to be completed within 90 days. More than 50,000 yards of dirt will have to be moved. The mile of track from Weaver to Jonestown will be graded by the company's own force of workmen. Car service from Ellsworth to Charleroi is indicated at an early date.

Let Contracts For Insurance

Washington Broker Unable to Carry Out Agreement By Which He Got All

Colin McF. Reed an insurance broker of Washington who had been awarded the $760.000 insurance carried on the court house and jail and certain portions of their contents nd equipment appeared before the county commissioners Wednesday and announced his inability to meet the obligations he had assumed. In the absence of Commissioner A. P. Barnum his colleagues, Commissioners Hill and Berry, took up the matter and on motion it was decided to reject all the policies submitted by Reed and award the insurance in accordance wth the action had in February when the insurance was granted to recognize Washington county agents at the flat rate of $4 per $1000, the policies to be in force as for February 11.

F. P. McCloskey is the only Charleroi agent to be given any of the insurance.

PLAYMATES ARE SICK

A little foreign girl, Angeline Russo aged five years, daughter of Nicoli Russo, of Webster, died Tuesday from some sort of poisoning and her two little playmates. a three-year-old sister and another girl aged nine years. are seriously ill at their homes

The children were playing near their homes and evidently ate or drank something they found there. They all three later became deathly sisk, and a doctor was called. He managed to revive two of the children but the little Russo girl was so bad she died after a short illness. From the conditions of the children and the symptoms the doctor stated that they had likely gotten hold of something poisonous. in either eating or drinking. The physician will make a close examination. The funeral of the Russo girl was held Thursday morning.

Is Reported Cut Today for Second Reading in House

ELECTION BILLS FAIL

McNichol Nomination and Envelop"Vest Pocket"Measures Lose in Senate

Harrisburg, May 8—Today the public utilities bill amended as the House Judiciary General Committee has seen fit will be reported for second reading the bill having passed first reading before being recommitted. A special order will likely be made for the second reading on Monday.

Efforts were made Wednesday to have the utilities measure amended so that it would have authority over issues of stocks and bonds, but this plan fell by the wayside in the consideration of minor amendments.

The joint resolution introduced by Representative Harry Cochran, of Fayette county to provide a commission composed of senators and representatives to probe the white slave traffic in Pennsylvania passed the House. An appropriation of $10,000 is carried for expenses. The bil lnow goes to the Senate.

A measure to permit counties, cities and boroughs to expend money for the improvement of highways outside the limits of the cities or boroughs for the purpose of connecting an improved street with a state highway goes to the governor, both the Senate and House having passed it.

The Senate declined to pass two election bills prepared by the State Election Commission. One would provide for the envelope system and the other would prevent nominations by nomination papers. Effort will be made to put the legislature through. William Flinn of Pittsburg occupied Senator Charles J. Magee's seat while the fight was in progress.

The McNichol bill, to repeal the provisions of the election laws relating to nominations by nomination papers. was the measure taken up. Its enactment would put an end to the mushroom parties which spring up after some man or set of men have been defeated in a primary. There was no debate on the legislation and it fell for lack of a constitutional majority, the vote being 18 yeas to 20 nays. Before the vote was announced Senators J P. McNichol and Samuel W. Salus of Philadelphia changed their votes from "yea" to "nay" and later moved for a reconsideration This motion prevailed and the bill was put on the postponed calendar.

The envelope bill failed to pass through honest objection to its provisions. There was some argument over it One of the arguments presented was that it would allow a boss to mark his employe's ticket. This remark was considered serious enough enough for Senator McNichol, from Philadelpha to defend his pet measure by demanding any senator to show where workingmen had been coerced in voting.

MEADOW LARK AND SPARROW.

That old friend of rural days, the meadow lark, has been on trial recently, but is fully vindicated. The issue under which he was tried was whether he eats more of the farmer's grain sowed for seed than of insects whose depredations on crops would be far greater, says an exchange.

The trial was conducted rather on the medieval test for witchery, of throwing the accused witch into the river and concluding if she swam that she was a witch and must be executed while if she drowned she was innocent and could rest in peace. Large numbers of meadow larks were killed and their stomachs examined. The examination was so thorough that the defunct meadow larks being vindicated cannot be put together again. But the vindication will avail the suvivors of the meadow lark species.

For the central fact, as stated by the meadow lark inquisition, is: "One an dthree-fourths quarts of insects taken by a Western meadow lark during a year more than pays less than one quart of grain a large of which does not represent a loss."

This, together with the general testimony of the farmers, rehabilitates the meadow lark. It may be added that the same process rendered an exactly opposite verdict on the familiar English sparrow He would be condemned to extinction by this investigation if he did not emmediately refuse to be extinguished

USE OF MOVING PICTURES.

Moving pictures are being put to new use, which will result in the saving of life and limb. Profesor Munsterburg of Harvard is responsible for what is known as the cinematograph nerve test, which is said will reduce motor car accidents in the United States to a minimum. The professor's theory is that no young man ought to become a chauffeur if his tests indicate that he would not be quick enough to stop his car if a child ran out in the roadway in front of the wheels, says the New Orleans Picayune. In the test for chauffeurs at Harvard the subject is placed in a motor car in a hall equipped for the purpose. He is seated at the wheel of the machine which is packed up so that all the machinery is movable, while the car remains stationary.

The experiments are conducted in a darkened room. In front of the cars is a white wall on which moving pictures of great size are shown They are immediately set before the chauffeur student's eyes. The student is then told to act as he would in real life if he saw any one of the things happen that appear on the sceen. Although he knows that the car is not actually running the fact that he is under a test puts the student on edge and makes him believe approximately as he would under ordinary circumstances.

screen with startling realism. tottering across the road in front of a car. The chauffeur, is of course, expected to handle his car without an instant's loss of time, just as he would have to do if the emergency rose in real life.

This is the most important test to which the students are subjected by the Harvard system

WILD WEST SHOW TO APPEAR IN CHARLEROI

Elephants With Wild West Show, Here May 14th.

The Young Buffalo Wild West, Vernon C. Scarlet's Hippodrome and Col' Cummins' Far East will exhibit in Charleroi, Wednesday, May 14.

These united exhibitions present a most bewildering array of different nationalities from the far and near corners of the earth. From Esquimos of the frozen North to Dahomeymos from Africa's burning sands their skins showing all the color tones of the human race from the pinkest white to the bluest black, and whose ployglot tongues vary from the cowpunchers breezy lingo to the guttural sounds of the jungle born, whose varied accomplishments run the gamut from Hindoo mysticism to frontier sports from wild Cossack horsemanship to the ornamental school of horsemanship of the Orient.

menage; from Arabian desert riders to our own bronco-busters, and these the splendors of the ancient Orient are vividly contrasted with the primitive features of the West when it was young.

Annie Oakley the world's greatest markswoman, will exhibit her proficiency with the rifle, in the Wild West portion of the program. Inasmuch as she has appeared here before at the Charleroi Gun club's shoots, she will be warmly welcomed.

The street parade will traverse the principal streets, starting at 10:30 a. m. doors will be opened at 1:00 and [illegible] for inspection of the Indian, Dahomeyan and Esquimo villages and the Far East Encampment

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Excuse me, sir," said he, "is this a vessel of some kind I see beside the dock, or is this a Standard office?"

"No," replied the man at the desk, rather angrily, "this office is upstairs, on the floor above"

"Much obliged," muttered the stranger, as he proceeded to absent himself. But he was artful, was that stranger, for he left the door wide open.

Then it was that the gentleman at the desk became angrier still.

"Hi!" he called, "come back and close my door! Hi, do-o-o-r!"

The artful one returned. From a bag he produced a mechanical appliance. Upon his face there sat a pleasant smile.

"Allow me, sir to show you my patent double-action door spring. Closes the door without a bang. Absolutely the very latest and best! Warranted for ninety-nine years"

The dodge worked—when the artful man had talked a little longer.

Champ Clark has the happy knack of being able to parry inconvenient interruptions with some smart retort that immediately squashes the opposition. He was speaking at a rather noisy meeting not long ago and after a short time a big chunk of wood was thrown at him. Fortunately, the aim was bad and fell harmlessly on the platform. Mr. Clark picked it up and showed it to the audience.

"Good heavens!" he exclaimed in tones of mock anxiety. "one of our opponents has lost his head!"

Historic Pharsalia.

It was on his way to the battlefield of Pharsalia that Caesar uttered the famous saying to the boatmen. He had come down to Brindisi to cross to Dyrrachium and, finding no galley, commanded the owner of a small sailing boat to put him across the Adriatic. On the voyage a violent storm occured, and even the experienced mariners were terrified But the great captain said: "Have no fear. You carry Caesar and his fortunes."

Real Hard Luck.

A fat Frenchwoman despairingly says: "I am so fat that I pray for a disappointment to make me thin but just now, does the disappointment come than the joy at the prospect of getting thin makes me fatter than ever"—London Tit-Bits.

Deftly Turned.

"This isn't like the bread mother makes," said the young married man

"So you are going to start that, are you?"

"I was merely congratulating you Mother never was a very good bread maker". W[illegible] Star

Steel Globes in Space

If two solid balls of tempered steel, each the size of the earth and hard as the harveyized face of armor plate, were taken in two Jovian hands, placed gently together in space and released what would happen? They would behave exactly as if they were liquid; they would coalesce like two great drops of water, and the highest prominence or mountain on the new globe could not have a height of fifty miles, because anything so high as that would flatten out under its own weight. —Hudson Maxim in Youth's Companion

Broke the Spell.

Judge E Rockwood Hoar, remarking on President Lincoln's dry humor, said that on one occasion a delegation of negroes had waited on Mr Lincoln and were evidently at a loss to know just what to say The president waited awhile and then remarked:

"Well, all who are here seem to be present."

This self evident proposition broke the ice and removed the spell from the African jaw

Hostel and Inn.

At one time the words "hostel" and "inn" were not confined to licensed houses, but were applied to lodging houses The "inns" of Oxford and Cambridge, very numerous before the introduction of colleges, were regulated by the college authorities The inns of court were provided for the accommodation of law students In olden times country houses of the aristocracy, during the absence of the owners, were used as "inns," or guest houses. It was then the rule to hang out as signs the arms of the owners, hence the origin of public house signs —London Globe

Making It Easier.

"George Dinglebat, isn't this the ninth time you have asked me to marry you?"

"Very likely, Laura And say, why can't we have an understanding in the matter—a division of labor, as it were? I'll do the asking, and you keep tab." —Cleveland Plain Dealer

Natural Ear Trumpets.

It has been ascertained that the spiral horn of a wild sheep, when so placed that the ear is in the axis of the coil, makes the direction from which the ticking of a watch comes more easily discernible. Since the ear of the sheep is surrounded by the horn it is inferred that the latter acts as an ear trumpet, not improving the hearing for distant sounds, but disclosing the direction of a sound This would be useful in enabling the sheep to ascertain the exact points whence sounds come when there is a mist or fog covering its feeding grounds.—Exchange.

Bruin Was Fishing.

I was walking up the river shore one evening about sunset watching for a deer. Rounding a bend, I saw perched upon a flat rock some few feet from shore a large black bear. I could not tell at first what he was doing He was stooping down, with one paw in the water, waving it gently to and fro I watched closely and saw, just beyond his reach, a large male salmon, so nearly dead that he could not swim. The bear was using his paw to create an eddy which would draw the fish within his grasp Slowly the salmon drifted toward the rock. It was amusing to watch how carefully the bear moved his paw, so as not to frighten his prey. At last the fish came within reach Bruin reached over, gave it a quick snap, seized it in his jaws and leaped ashore. The whole performance tickled me so that I let him go off, the salmon dangling in his mouth, without even taking a shot at him.—Charles Stuart Moody in Outing.

The Real Thing.

Express Clerk—Value of this package, please? Fair Damsel—Twenty-five thousand dollars Express Clerk—Hub? Fair Damsel—You heard what I said Those are love letters from old Bagsocoyne, and I'm sending 'em to my lawyer.—Cleveland Leader.

The Drift.

A Correction.—"We are drifting toward a paternal form of government," said the economist. "Pardon me if I correct you," responded the suffragette gently; "to be accurate you should say a maternal form of government."—Case and Comment.

Old Time Punishment.

In "Pike's History of Crimes," volume 1, page 226 is found the following copy of the sentence of an old time traitor "It is the order of the court that for your treason you be drawn and hanged and beheaded and that your heart, bowels and entrails, from whence come your traitorous thoughts, be torn out and burned to ashes and that the ashes be scattered to the four winds and that your body be afterward cut into four quarters"

Sugar.

A West India paper says that in 1752 an "Essay on Sugar" was written in which it is recorded that the Duke of Beaufort, who died in 1699 at the advanced age of eighty years used to eat a pound of sugar every day, and it was found that he was never troubled with coughs and his teeth were firm so that his housekeeper gave this reason:

That which preserves apples and plums Will also preserve life and lungs.

A Capful of Wind.

The origin of the phrase "a capful of wind" can be traced to a Norse king, Eric VI., who died in 907 A. D He was credited with the useful power of directing the wind to blow where [illegible] turning his cap to that point of the compass His powers were much appreciated and trusted and resulted in his being known as "windy cap" There is no evidence as to whether he could regulate the force of the wind as well as the direction. Presumably he could, or his faithful believers would not have been so many. A "bagful of wind" is another common expression and indicates something like a gale. This has been traced down to the classical legend of Aeolus and his captive winds confined in bags.

HOW MRS. BROWN SUFFERED

During Change of Life—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. [illegible] and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more [illegible] women You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. BROWN, 809 N. Walnut St., Iola, Kan.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

An Ingenious "Fire Box."

A very simple but nevertheless effective method of making fire is used in the Arfas mountains, in Dutch North New Guinea. The natives cut a section of bamboo, usually about nine inches long by two inches in diameter, and into this are put a supply of tinder and a small fragment of anything hard, preferably a piece of china if the natives can get hold of it. The tinder is covered from the wet by a piece of hard and the "fire box" is then ready for use whenever it is wanted To get a light the native merely takes the piece of china and a lump of tinder between his thumb and first finger; then, holding the bamboo in his left hand, he strikes its surface sharply with the china, causing a spark which soon ignites the tinder. Even the white man soon acquires the knack of doing this, and the process is much more effective and infinitely less laborious than the usual method of producing fire by friction.—Wide World Magazine.

Out of Fashion.
